

The Society for Clinical Neuropsychology's Association of Neuropsychology Students & Trainees

Chair

Serves as leader of the committee. Oversees all ongoing projects and strategic planning. Keeps the committee motivated and innovative. Organizes and facilitates the monthly teleconference. Works closely with the Chair of SCN's Education Advisory Committee (EAC) and attends the monthly EAC meetings. Attends SCN monthly meetings as well as the biannual meetings at APA and INS. Serves as consultant and representative to other neuropsychology organizations and groups, including the Clinical Neuropsychology Trainee Forum. Assists all officers as needed, and actively participates in the preparation, submission, and presentation of workshops at the annual APA convention.

Programming Officer

Plans, leads, prepares, and submits proposals for conference presentations as part of SCN's programming slate at the annual APA convention and coordinates participants/speakers for those events. This position has busier periods around deadlines and quieter times during the rest of the year. During quieter times, helps support other officers with their projects.

Membership Officer

Serves as the primary point of contact for ANST members and interest groups. Manages the official records of active interest groups, reviews applications of new groups. Helps recruit new groups, supports the current representatives, and fosters a community of support and inclusion among the interest groups. Coordinates with the Communications Officer to update the website with the interest group listing and to manage the ANST email account. Also, collates all ANST member conference talks and poster information for APA and INS and distributes this to all ANST members.

Liaison Officer

Acts as liaison between ANST and the student leaders of other neuropsychology and psychology organizations, including SCN committees, other APA Divisions, INS, AACN, NAN, and APPCN. Also coordinates efforts on joint projects or events. Serves as the primary coordinator for the trainee-led specialty interest focus group program.

Communications Officer

Responsible for collaborating with SCN's Publications & Communications Committee to manage the ANST website and other web projects. Works with the ANST Membership Officer to manage the ANST email inbox and is the primary manager of the ANST listserv. May also be asked to prepare advertisements for various events/webinars or write digest contributions.

Networking Officer

Helps foster a sense of community among ANST members. Responsible for managing ANST social media accounts, collaborating with the Social Media Editor on SCN's Publications & Communications Committee, and planning and organizing social events at conferences.

Professional Development Officer

Responsible for developing, organizing, and hosting professional development and educational opportunities for ANST members, such as webinars and other mentorship events. This role involves close collaboration with the several other ANST officers and various neuropsychology organizations.

Neurotechnology Officer

Responsible for developing resources and initiatives aimed at supporting neuropsychology trainees with digital learning opportunities needed to support their educational, research, and clinical activities and cultivating a modernized neuropsychology mindset. Helps oversee and facilitate the trainee-led Neurotechnology focus group. This role involves close collaboration with the Programming Officer and Professional Development Officer.

Equity and Inclusion Officer

Responsible for developing resources and initiatives aimed at supporting neuropsychology trainees of diverse backgrounds and integrating equity and inclusion into all ANST activities. Acts as liaison between ANST and the Cultural Neuropsychology Council, student leaders of other cultural neuropsychology organizations (SCN EMA, HNS, ANA, SBN), and the student leaders of QNS. Coordinates efforts on joint projects or events focused on increasing equity in our field and diversifying neuropsychology.

Leadership Terms

All terms are a minimum of two years and a maximum of three years, as determined by the ANST and EAC Chairs. The ANST Chair also serves one year as Past Chair.
